Natural products research examines plants, microorganisms, and other elements of the natural world to identify potentially beneficial chemical entities, such as anticancer agents, antibiotics, and agrochemicals. Studying the activities of these substances allows researchers to optimize their effectiveness and develop similar materials (analogues) with ideal biological properties. Natural products research provides insight into the effectiveness of herbal remedies, basic biological processes, and more. By leveraging expertise across disciplines, the Medicinal Chemistry Collaborative looks at the larger picture and pursues richer and more fruitful discoveries.

Added:

Institute for Data, Evaluation, and Analytics (IDEA)

The Institute for Data, Evaluation, and Analytics (IDEA), formerly known as the Center for Social, Community and Health Research and Evaluation, is a “virtual organization” developed to promote and support UNCG’s wide expertise in data analytics, evaluation, and research. It provides a visible and easily accessible point of contact for the external community seeking consulting services and technical assistance. IDEA is composed of university partners (faculty, departments, other centers) spanning a wide range of skills and supported by a comprehensive array of analytical software and technology as well as a robust computing environment with data security and comprehensive backup. By working collaboratively with personnel, units, departments, investigators, other UNCG Centers, and agencies on data collection and analysis efforts, IDEA provides technical assistance to the UNCG community and to outside agencies and programs and allows UNCG and community, institution, state, national, and international partners to meet their accountability goals and objectives and to increase their capacity to serve their constituencies.

North Carolina Sales Institute
441 Bryan Building
(336) 334-4413
bryan.uncg.edu/ncsi/

The North Carolina Sales Institute provides world-class sales education and research, carried out by two separate entities within the Bryan School: the Department of Marketing, Entrepreneurship, Hospitality & Tourism (MEHT) and the Office of Executive Education. The NCSI is a coordinating mechanism that works actively to integrate the elements of credit- and non-credit teaching, as well as research focused on sales. The target audiences are undergraduate and graduate students, current or aspiring sales professionals, and organizations in the private, public, and non-profit sectors, in the Piedmont Triad Region, the state of North Carolina, and beyond. The combination of undergraduate and graduate education and ongoing faculty scholarship, in conjunction with the membership opportunities for executive education through the Bryan School Office of Executive Education and the NCSI Sales Leadership Roundtable is unequalled by anything currently in existence in the state.
