The meeting of the Graduate Studies Committee was called to order by Dr. Ken Snowden at 10:00 a.m. in Elm Room, EUC.

Excused Absence: Bagley, Bartlett, Jackson, Mazgaj, and Rowett-James

APPROVAL OF MINUTES
Minutes from the January 21, 2011 meeting were approved as written.

REPORT OF THE CHAIR - DR. SNOWDEN
Dr. Snowden gave a brief report on faculty availability to serve as 2011-2012 GSC Chair. Dr. Snowden advised that Dr. Nancy Hodges would be available to serve the Spring semester only; however, he is willing to serve for the Fall semester. Upon motion duly made and seconded, nominations were closed. It was the unanimous decision of the committee that Dr. Ken Snowden serve as Chair for Fall, and Dr. Nancy Hodges serve Chair for Spring.

REPORT OF THE DEAN - DR. PETERSEN
Dr. Petersen reported that the Program Review Process Committee has been actively responding to input received on their proposed recommendations for the process the university would use for reviewing programs in response to anticipated budget cuts. The basic timetable is the same, with a good deal of activity during the Summer. Data collection and preparation will take place between March and early April, with any corrections made late in the month. Between April and May, the unit review process at the college/school level would have the units place programs in 3 tiers. Between June and mid-August, the university-wide committee would also place programs in 3 tiers after receiving unit recommendations, but that committee would not be bound by the unit input.

The committee will consist of 11 members: 6 faculty, a faculty chair, 1 undergraduate student, 1 graduate student, the dean of undergraduate studies, and the associate dean of graduate studies. The vice provost and associate provost for planning will be ex-officio members.

IDEALL CSD PROPOSED COLLABORATIVE PROJECT
Presented by Dr. Robert Mayo, head of UNCG’s Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, Dr. Billy Ogletree, chair of Western Carolina University’s Department of Communication Sciences, and Dr. Denise Tucker, director of doctoral study for UNCG’s Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, the collaborative doctoral program between UNCG and Western Carolina University would help to meet a critical need for Ph.D. trained speech-language pathologists in the western part of North Carolina. Dr. Ogletree reported that the master’s program at Western Carolina University began in the late 1960’s and, since 2007, has been a part of the College of Health and Human Sciences. Dr. Tucker explained that the IDEALL CSD would be a new delivery system for the existing Ph.D. program in communication sciences and disorders, and is therefore not a new degree. Students would apply to UNCG and follow the existing program requirements, including written and oral exams overseen by a UNCG faculty advisor and Director of Graduate Studies. She detailed how students going through the program would attend live synchronous classes originating from UNCG on Western’s campus. With the student developing his or her own minor program of study, however, the number of semester hours taken in courses at Western will exceed the 1/3 rule. This UNCG rule allows doctoral students a maximum of 1/3 non-dissertation course credit hours as transfer credit. A waiver of the rule for the IDEALL CSD students may be needed, depending on future information from GA and inter-institutional registration options. Following a brief question and answer period, a motion was made and seconded to form an ad hoc subcommittee to meet with departmental representatives in order to further develop the proposal. The subcommittee shall consist of Ken Snowden, Lynne Lewallen, and Vince Francisco.
